

Management marketing video

A head chef and sous chef are cooking in a restaurant kitchen when narrator says, "Do you have one manager?"

Scene changes to a housekeeping manager and a worker with a cleaning cart and the narrator continues, "or many managers?" The scene changes again to show a hotel front desk with a hotel manager and a worker helping a hotel guest.

As the scene changes to the outside of the hotel, there is a bell hop waving to a limousine driving by, the narrator says, "Train your managers to be better leaders..."

Scene changes back to the restaurant kitchen as the narrator says, "...like manage a team." The head chef says, "Room service order for room 405." Her sous chef responds with, "Yes Chef!". The scene changes back to the housekeeping room and the narrator continues, "and communicate effectively." The housekeeping manager says to the worker, "Please bring Marcy 10 towels on the third floor."

"Recognize their team's achievements and more," the narrator says with the hotel front desk manager praising the bell hop. The hotel manager says, "Thanks for being quick to help our guests."

Another bell hop is shown outside pushing a cart of luggage. The narrator continues, "Empower Learning's management courses can help your team achieve their potential."
